Introduction

The Mesa Cemetery Walking Tour was developed in celebration of the cemetery's centennial anniversary on April 12, 1991.

Cemeteries serve to connect past and present by preserving the memory of individual lives. Every life-even the briefest - touches other lives, thus impacting the future.

The individuals represented on this walking tour were selected to provide a glimpse of Mesa's history and a sampling of its "personality" over the years. However, Mesa's past is much richer than can be conveyed in such a tour. Citizens are encouraged to find out more by visiting Mesa's museums and libraries.

Special Section

To the north of the Cemetery Office is a section dedicated to "those persons unknown buried during the Great Depression." Called the Historical Section, it reflects on a bleak period of American history when even permanent memorials were a luxury.

The Royal Air Force (RAF) Section is dedicated to British Cadets killed in World War II training accidents at Mesa's Falcon Field. Located near the center of the Cemetery, the airmen's grave markers include ranks, serial numbers and the eagle crest of the RAF.

Finding a grave location

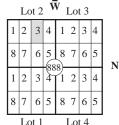

All Walking Tour grave sites are identified by a three part code that indicates block, lot and space number, as in the following example:

888 2 3 Block Lot Space

First, locate the block, using the map in this brochure as a guide. Look for the round markers specifying the block number. Walking tour blocks feature special metal markers. $\overset{\clubsuit}{W}$ Lot 3

Next, find the lot and grave space. Each block is comprised of four lots; and each lot is comprised of eight grave spaces, laid out in the following configuration:

Example: Location 888-2-3 is highlighted in diagram.

Walking Tour Selections William Austin Burton 1861-1949 148-

He owned and operated the first mortuary in Mesa, and was the first in Mesa to use embalming techniques. He laid out the original area of the City of Mesa Cemetery, moving bodies from an older cemetery located at Center and University. He was the first appointed permanent deputy marshal (1896). He was also the City's first fire chief and built its first fire station.

Harry Lyman Chandler 1861-1955 106-4-1

He founded a power utility, which brought the first electricity to Mesa. He also established a natural gas company. He served on the Mesa School District Board for 20 years and on the Board of Governors for the Salt River Valley Water Users Association. His brother, AJ, founded the city of Chandler.

Charles Crismon, Sr. 1805-1890

He was the eldest of the four founding fathers of Mesa, making the 1877 trek from Salt Lake City at age 70. A grist mill he built in Salt Lake City in 1847 is thought to be the first west of the Mississippi. In 1884, Federal officers sought to prosecute him for polygamy. A friend advised the 78-year old Crismon to cut his gums and cough, spitting up blood. Not wishing to prosecute a "dying old man", the court released him.

Oscar Virgil Crismon 1909-1985

He founded and operated Crismon's Flower Shop, Mesa's first florist service. He was Mayor of Mesa from 1950-1952. He also served on the Maricopa County Planning and Zoning Commission for 22years and was a member of the Arizona Development Board.

Helen Millet Dana 1885-1961 193-4-5

This nurse operated a maternity home at her residence and also traveled with a physician by horse and buggy to help deliver babies. She officiated at or assisted in the delivery of more than 12,500 babies in the Mesa area. She also took in unwed mothers and found good adoptive homes for their babies.

George Nicholas Goodman 1885-1959 424-4-0

This pharmacist was Mayor of Mesa from 1952-1956 and spent 16 years on the City Council. He was appointed Executive Secretary of the Arizona State Fair in 1956, an office he held until his death.

Joseph Madison Greer, M.D. 1887-1969 248-1-1

Together with Dr. Ralph Palmer of Mesa and Dr. B.B Moeur of Tempe, he established Mesa's first hospital, Mesa Southside Hospital. He served in World War II and was active in the Boy Scouts and YMCA leadership.

Pedro Warner Guerrero 1896-1990 643-4-4C

He founded the Guerrero-Lindsey Sign Company. In 1946, with R.G. Scarborough and Ann Encke, he founded the Rosarita Mexican Foods Company. From a modest start in Encke's kitchen, it has become a national brand. Mesa's Pedro Guerrero Rotary Park is named for him.

John Prentis Hale 1903-1942
